MESSAGE

The world we live in is no longer a familiar place. Newer disease-causing-organisms are emerging from time to time leaving us under a constant threat. In this context, it is very appropriate that the Post Graduate Department of Biochemistry of our College is organizing an International Conference on Biosciences – "Trends in Molecular Medicine". The conference will bring together a consortium of professionals from academia and research to share their knowledge and findings in this imperative field of science.

I wish to compliment the Head and his team of Faculty & students of the department for organizing such conferences in order to facilitate the updation of knowledge in the field of Molecular Medicine, thus promoting, thus promoting interactions among young scholars across the globe.

Wishing the International Conference all Success.
